BOAT SHOW EXCURSION TO TORONTO - A DRAMATIC SUCCESS

The 1983 Bus Trip, organized by Paul Kruger this year was an outstanding success, with a full bus, good fellowship, and all the time anyone might need to look at boats. Our thanks to Paul for his fine effort in making this annual event a popular success!

From the Commodore:

This will be my last opportunity to express my thanks as Commodore.

I want to thank the great executive that carried me through and put so much effort into everything we attempted.

I also want to thank the Collins Bay Marina for the encouragement and support that they have given the Club during the important first years.

Most of all though I have to thank all the members who have supported the executive by participation in the various programs and projects that have made Collins Bay Yacht Club what it is today.

We can all be very proud for we now have an organization that is recognized in the boating community and is providing us with boating fun.

TALISMAN

One Saturday evening last September members of C.B.Y.C. enjoyed a farewell party with the captain and crew of "Talisman". The following Monday the Battles slipped away from their mooring for the last time and began their southern odyssey.

Their adventure began crossing Lake Ontario in a south westener. The boat rolled with each wave and two crew members found first hand experience of MAL DE MER. Unfortunately they also parted company with their faithful travelling companion, one real sport-pal dingy.

Both masts were unstepped and secured to the deck in Oswego, N.Y. They then entered the first set of locks and finally entered the Erie Barge Canal system. They then motored through this system, bound for Albany on the Hudson River. Apparently it was like a fairy land with the fall colours at their best.

Once onto the Hudson, "Talisman" descended to the Castleton Yacht Club, where they resteped their masts and shook the cob webs out of the sails. It was quite an experience having the rivers current assisting you part of the day, and then oppose you with the tide change.

Finally the Big Apple, and all it's sights and sounds. Here "Talisman" had a few engine problems but the faithful crew made the repairs and sailed out onto the Atlantic Ocean.

From New York to Cape May, "Talisman" met many more boats who were also migrating south. A days run up the Delaware and they entered the Chesapeake. Fortunately they were in time to attend the Annapolis Boat show and were impressed with the City of Annapolis and the United States Naval Academy.

Many small towns were visited, each with a waterway history waiting to be explored. The older wooden boat building centers such as St. Michaels and Oxford remind one of the cottage boat building industries that are found in the Lunenburg area. Extremely friendly fisherman who were always willing to add to your larder, when one hasn't had any luck.

Finally arriving at the United State naval base located at Norfolk, Vir. Aircraft carriers, submarines and naval ships of all sizes and description quickly deminish the size of ones own craft. Entering the intercoastal waterway "Talisman" found winding rivers, coastal bays and fields of marsh grass. The varities of foliage and wildlife seems to increase as you travel south offering something new each day.

"Talisman" slowly meandered south, meeting and making many new friends, who also were enjoying the new life style. Visiting such historic sea ports as Charleston and the three hundred year old city St. Augustine. Further south they passed the Kennedy Space centre and finally the Gold Coast, Miami.

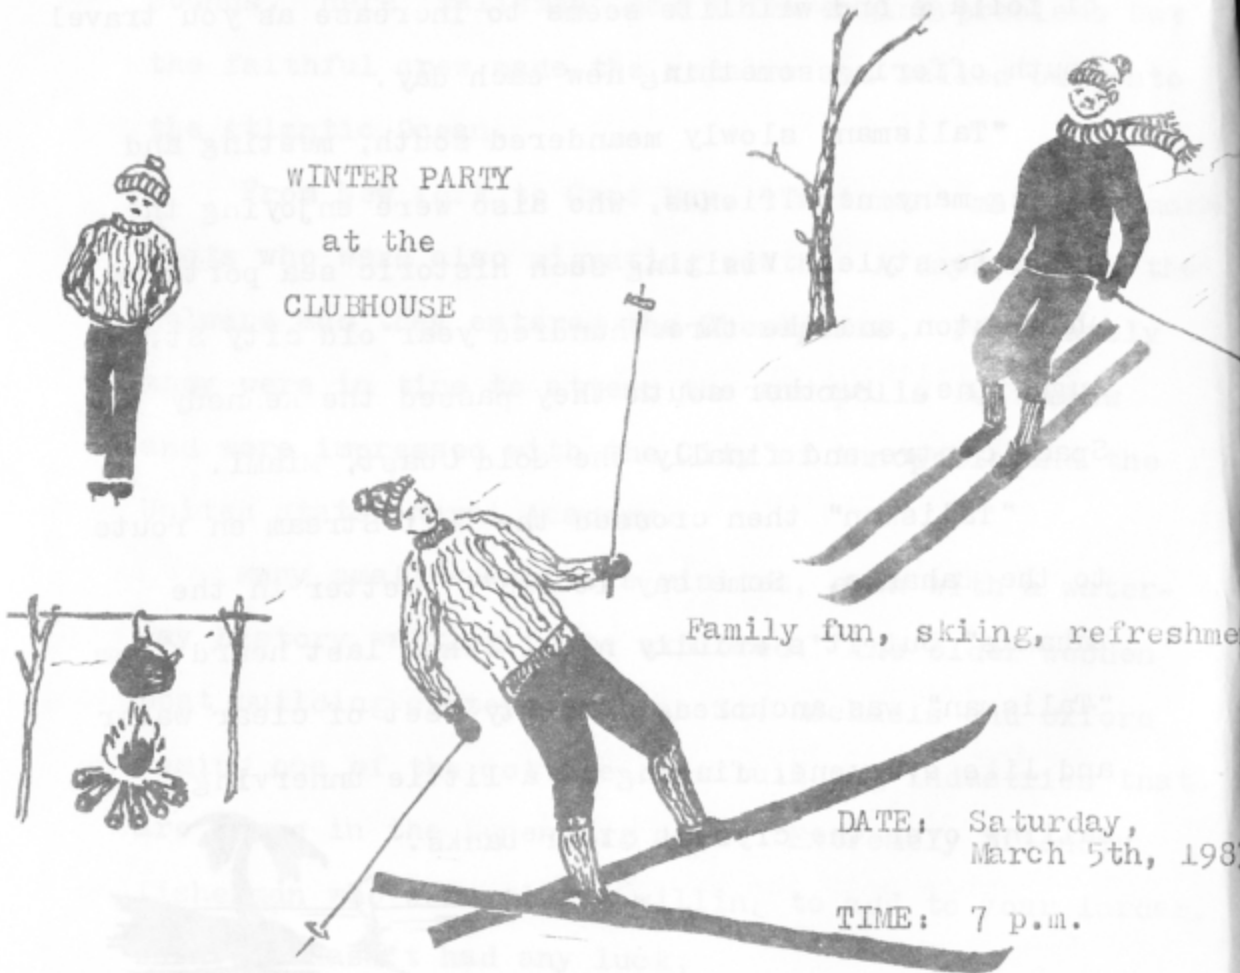

"Talisman" then crossed the Gulf Stream en route to the Bahamas. Some say it isn't "Better in the Bahamas" but it's awfully nice. When last heard from "Talisman" was anchored in thirty feet of clear water and like everyone, finding it a little unnerving sailing over the crystal clear banks.

It is also reported that "Buckshee" and "Onaygarah" are in the area and have been overheard on the V.H.F.

Ken Albertan.
