COMMODORE'S NOTES

CBYC enthusiasm is alive and well! Most member boats are gently rocking in their slips and two club events have come and gone with great success and attendance. The CBYC Annual Wine and Cheese welcomed familiar and new faces to an evening of wine tasting, delectable nibbles and warm camaraderie. Cheers to Gayle Outhwaite, our dependable Social Chair who seems to organize these events for us with ease. This is a myth however; time and effort is required. Offers of assistance for future events would be welcome - just call 384-5100 to see what help she might need.

Bruce Fairbairn has finally gotten his wish! The O.J. and Bubbly Cruise was attended this year by more than two boats! In fact six boats braved the cool temperatures and brisk breezes for a Friday night sail to Confederation Basin. See cruise coordinator Bruce Fairbairn's report later in this issue.

Some members have been inquiring about membership renewal invoices. Indeed, you may already have what you need. The 1997 Member Profile is attached to the 1997 Program that you received in February. This form is your membership application/renewal for 1997. Please include all information requested. Our membership chair, Bill Learmonth awaits your reply. You will find his address on the reverse of the form.

A Family Day Committee has been formed to coordinate events on June 8th. This is an event you don't want to miss. Judy Adams, Bruce Fairbairn, Lorie Simone, Gayle Outhwaite and Tim Worthy are organizing a great day with Sail Past at 1330, games and prizes for your younger crew members at 1430 and a barbecue beginning at 1600. Bring your family out for a fun-filled Sunday.

For all those anxious to hear the start signal on Thursday night, mark Thursday, May 29 on your calendar for a practice run - more information from Steve Yates in this issue.

Gerry Killoran, our Vice Commodore has left a comprehensive list of reciprocals on the east bulletin board in the clubhouse as well as the reciprocal book. Before heading out to another club, please check the current reciprocal information, inform the Marina about your expected time away, carry your membership card and have a wonderful time representing your club.

Club Burgees will be coming soon. Watch the outer bulletin board for an update and thanks to Gary Logan, our Sail School Chair for his research into this purchase.

With all this club pride and enthusiasm we can look forward to another great season of boating, friendship and warm sunshine?

Happy sailing in '97

Race Committee Report.

Thursday evening series races will begin on Thursday May 29. The gun goes off at 1800 hours. Races will be arranged of varying lengths to suit wind conditions and the whims of competing boats. Please note -- you don't have to be a seasoned racer to compete in Collins Bay races. There is a lot of help and expertise to guide you if you need it! See you at 1730 h at the club house for the skippers' meeting.

The first Saturday race of the year is the Amherst Island on June 28. Don't miss it.

Subject: optimists

I'm starting to hunt down boats for charter during CORK - mainly opti's and lasers. Do you know anyone at your club that would have any? I also get a lot of requests for coach boats, preferably zodiac types but have a hard time tracking them down, would you put a request in your newsletter for us? Thanks, Sue 545-1322

CRUISING NEWS

Following are the long week-end plans. There were some suggestions for various new destinations. Note: Your ideas and feed-back are important.

▲ June 28,29, 30, July 1 Canada Day - There is time for a longer cruise for anyone with time and four days free - possible Waupoos or points west. BUT on Monday proceed to Parrott Bay to the Krugers for a repeat of that marvellous B.Y.O. B-B-Q supper and fellowship. Stay overnight at the dock or anchor. You can drive to this rendezvous. Call Doug & Flo Wagner 389-1295

▲ Aug 2,3,4 - Aug Bank Hol. Again, Bruce Fairbairn our experienced and accomodating cruiser, will find an interesting destination. Ideas put forth include Brakey Bay and, with permission, ashore on KYC property, Chaumont Bay to Crescent Y.C., Cape Vincent, and anywhere else you might suggest.

▲ Aug 30,31, Sept 1 - No definite destination yet - maybe Picton, Hay Bay, Belleville? Ideas need to be formalized and we need a Cruise Captain for this one.

▲ Sept 20 - Fish and Chip Cruise - Last years venue for dinner was a popular change, but the participants still outnumbered the seats in the Toucan lounge. It is wonderful to see these events grow! We cruise to Confederation Basin, Happy hour aboard a boat or two, dinner ashore, breakfast ashore and a race home! Bill Learmonth will organize race info and Ian Whitfield will do times and handicaps.

Claudette & Gerry Killoran - 384-1136
Times and info will be posted on our bulletin boards. Please consider good photos for our club historian Judy Adams (389-1812)

Report on O.J. & Bubbly Cruise

Despite the vagaries of weather and temperature, this year's inaugural cruise turned out great. Early birds Stardust IV (Caarmen Knapp & Bill Worthy) & Pyewacket (The Fairbairns) spent a chilly Friday night in Confederation Basin but were warmed at Morrisons next morning when we were joined for breakfast by the Adams, Cohrs, and Krugers plus Commodore Sue.

The early birds went on to Cedar Isle where, later in the PM, we were joined by Alpine Star (The Wagners), Equinox (The Francis), Another Midnight (The Learmonth's), and Zoom (Gord Unsworth and his trusty black lab "Gus")

Happy hour began on the dock but the rising wind sent us all below on Alpine Star with her spacious salon. After another coolish night, Sunday dawned bright and sunny. The O.J. / Bubbly Jug was replenished several times before breakfast was ready and each crew brought their own contributions onto Alpine Star. An outstanding and memorable feast.

Because of a wet and unpleasant forecast for Monday, we all elected to leave late Sunday morning. A 10-12 knot SE breeze required only one tack to Wolfe Island and then a great port tack all the way home. A super sail in pleasant conditions. Join us next year.

To Launch or Not to Launch

Do you like my title? Have you seen Looneyspoons, the recently published cookbook? It's full of catchy titles like this, as well as interesting, low-fat recipes.

In any case that was the question on everyone's mind as the first weekend of May approached. The boats were ready, but the weatherman obviously isn't a sailor. He doesn't know that we can't launch in POURING rain or in GALES! Those of us from "away" were busy sending e-mails to Hub who would check on the latest conditions and reply (even at 1:00 a.m.!).

Friday, May 2 turned out to be cool, but otherwise conditions were favourable for launching. Hub and his crew put in a full day launching everyone who was ready. The weatherman was only going to give us a one day window between gales, so we all had to make the most of it. Henry and his gang from Nautec were also caught up in the hub (excuse the pun!) of activity getting the finishing touches done for boaters who were almost ready to launch.

Saturday turned out to be just as miserable as we had feared so we were glad we had worked so hard on Friday.

The Captain of Tamara C had asked himself the same question the weekend before when the weatherman rained out our hoped-for April 28th launch. So he succumbed to conflicting schedules and departed for Calgary on business and valiantly let Hub launch Tamara C with my "help". Given the unco-operative weather so far this season, I think he made the right decision!

Is it any wonder that Canadians favourite TV show is the weather network? It rules our lives weather we like it or not!

Claudia Stevenson - "Tamara C"

Thom Tomkow and his crew on "Blue Angel" were last reported arriving at Quebec City and doing fine. I've often teased Thom about being a horses' ass in the past but my suspicions were confirmed when he signed on a Veterinary doctor and wife for the cruise!!! Rita made sure they had enough to eat though, with a load from the grocery store that would have sunk an average size boat. It was nice to see so many helpers during the last days before launch and departure, and he asked me to pass on his thanks for that assistance. Hope he is taking pictures for our Album.

COLLINS BAY MARINA NEWS

Suggestions anyone? We now have suggestion boxes, thanks to Mike Mastrianni who made them for us. They are posted in the washrooms as we figured that was a place where everyone had some time to contemplate. From time to time we will post a topic we would like your feedback on, so please don't be shy about sticking your thoughts in the box.

There are two new faces on staff at the marina this season. Jay Shulha, who began his training last fall, will be working with us full time along with Matt Day as our fuel dock attendants. Jay is finishing his OAC year, and with many awards in music, art and drama under his belt hopes to continue his studies next year at the post-secondary level. Jay also comes to us with a National Lifeguard Service certificate and lots of camping and boating experience. Matt is currently at Frontenac Secondary School and has had an abundance of experience working in the hospitality field, his latest job being at the Grizzly Grill restaurant. Matt is looking forward to boating to work in his runabout. We are fortunate to have Chris Bridgen, Ian Whitfield and Al Ross once again be a part of our team. We wish Zane Whitfield and Jeff Shragge the best in their new ventures -- Zane is now working at the Grizzly Grill and Jeff is exploring the Yukon.

The entire staff was recently trained by St. John's Ambulance in Emergency First Aid and CPR. We hope we will never have to use this knowledge, but it's reassuring to know we're prepared. Hub and Michèle also attended a "Clean Marine" workshop this spring. This program trains marina operators how to incorporate sound environmental practices into their operations. We now have a spill kit and oil boom on site for any fuel spills/emergencies and encourage boaters to continue to bring us waste oil and antifreeze for recycling. Please help us keep our environment clean. We have also replaced our 2-stroke workboat engines with new 4-stroke engines which emit fewer emissions.

In support of the sailing camp, we are building a new dock at the west shore. This new dock will replace the old raft and will be over 100' long to provide plenty of room to accommodate all the dinghies. The dock will be stable and secure -- ideal for the campers to practice their docking skills!

Hub and Mische

Thank you to all the many volunteers who have done so much work preparing for the coming season. For those who attended the Wine & Cheese night it was apparent that Gayle and her gang had been busy. There are still a few committees with room for you. Remember, it is more fun if you are part of the preparationOK?
